To whom it may concern:

This letter is my personal recommendation for Robert Castillo and "The "BMX Freestyle Team." I had the good fortune to subcontract Robert and his super talented team for a huge Cisco Systems industrial at the San Diego convention center.

Cisco was producing a cutting edge opening experience for their annual sales meeting for a group of 4000 attendees. They decided to merge a high definition video presentation with a live high energy, death defying BMX stunt show. After interviewing several of the top stunt teams in the US, I luckily decided to give Robert a shot at the job.

Robert was professional, pleasant and easy to communicate with. He paid special attention during the month of pre-production and helped set up all the parameters of the job. He was able to provide all the information I needed to arrange travel and hotel accommodations for his group as well as equipment specs and all the insurance certificates required for such an event.

Once we got on site and started rehearsals, Robert was key in helping to create the live show and meet all the client's deadlines. The group of riders Robert hired were all top athletes and totally on time, dressed well and professional. They conducted themselves like gentlemen on site and made a great impression on everyone. Their actual show was mind blowing and had a great impact on the audience. There were no mistakes and no problems!

If you have a chance to hire R Robert Castillo and "The "BMX Freestyle Team," my advice is to get them on board ASAP! It will be the best decision you ever made!

Sincerely,

Fred Tallaksen
